STOCKTON now has natural gas at one dollar a thousand to light her streets. Cheap enough for an illuminant, but not sufficiently so to come into general consumption as fuel.

REPRESENTATIVE WILLIAMS of Ohio thinks the contest for the Speakership of the next House lies between Reid and McKinley. We think likewise, and believe McKinley will be the choice.

EDITOR KEARNEY of the San Bernardino Courier has invented the word "rehaulment," and being attacked by a "local-oloral contemporary" therefor, defends himself successfully. "Rehaulment" goes, colleague!

THE Society of the Sons of the American Revolution proposes to establish leagues of fellowship with the descendants of patriots in other republics, particularly France, in order that the cause of independence may be strengthened.

It is suggested that the example of Bakersfield in donating to the Johnstown sufferers the money subscribed for the Fourth of July celebration should be generally followed. The suggestion is a good one. Our recognition of the Nation's natal day need be no whit less sincere, because we omit some of the expensive adjuncts of the fete and send the amounts saved to those who so sorely need practical sympathy.

A CENTURY ago there would have been speculations as to what great crime the inhabitants of Johnstown had committed, to incur the wrath of heaven in so signa a manner. Nowadays, we do not seek for such a cause, for every misfortune that overtakes the human race, and the fire which has followed the flood in that ill-fated city will merely be regarded as a remarkable continuance of persistent calamities.

MAYOR GRANT of New York has informed corporations that they must make all their changes of pipes and so forth before the laying of new pavements in that city begins. Future improvements, under the streets, must be provided for by subways or tunnels. We badly need some such regulation here. A good pavement is no sooner laid than it is torn up to fix a gas pipe or water main, the result being that many of our streets resemble gull walls, within six months after they are paved.

THE suggestion has been made that the dissatisfaction of a portion of the public with the verdict of the San Bernardino jury, in the Penman case, is largely due to the fact that the woman does not bear a good reputation. Such a distinction is not only neither logical nor humane. It was the girl's virtue which was assailed, not the mother's. If the shooting was justifiable at all, it was as much so in this case as it would have been had the slayer of Sullivan been a sister of Charity or a respected matron.

SAN FRANCISCO has long been prolific in sensations which tend to place the law and lawyers in anything but a favorable light. The latest development of this character is a rumor, which has gained credence up there, that Judge Field, now in that city, is in danger of personal violence at the hands of the man whom he sent to jail for contempt. It is a sad state of affairs when judges on the bench cannot perform their duties without fear of violence from those who are made to suffer for infractions of the law. This man Terry—a legal bully, with a bad record—is by no means popular, and any further outrage committed by him would be very likely to bring his unsavory career to a sudden end.

'STEEMED CONTEMPORARIES.

The San Bernardino Courier has some remarks loaded with common sense and pertinency on the subject of "Journalistic Esprit du Corps," expressing the somewhat vain hope that the forthcoming convocation of able editors at San Diego may adopt a code of "amenities," the "violation of which will subject every offending editor to ostracism from his fellows." Mr. Kearney puts in a saving clause when speaking of the "profession," indicating that he does not include everybody under the head of journalists who makes pretensions in that direction, but he inferentially classes some of the pretenders as strange cattle, without a brand—mavericks, as it were. This is correct. They are just that. To quote the Courier: "Of course, the backwoods blazer, or the village puffer, earning the bread of life by coarse, vulgar toadying, and the most sickening sycophancy, are not, in the real meaning of the term, newspapers. They wear the badge of servility as unmistakably as does the valet in the livery of his master. Thank heaven, there are few of them in these latitudes, for even our village papers are, for the most part, manly and independent in tone." Much more so, in some cases, than some pretentious and alleged "metropolitan" sheets that live, not by legitimate public patronage, but by boodle, begging and blackmail. But let us have the hinted schedule of amenities and the needed code of morals, that we may see what the contrivances look like.

APRICOTS.

The apricot season is now well on, and this delicious fruit may be had at prices to suit the poorest purse. Ten pounds being purchasable for a quarter. As the season advances, they will be still cheaper, by the box, so that families may safely turn the youngsters loose on them, once in a while, without fear of a financial collapse.

The apricot is almost as much a specialty of Southern California as is the orange. It grows throughout the State, but nowhere to such perfection or in such abundance as south of Point Conception. A mild, sunny climate, neither too hot nor too cold, with something more than a suspicion of sea air, seem to be the conditions which it demands in order to reach perfection. Outside of this State—and possibly Arizona—the apricot is a scarce fruit and hard to raise, so that, to many eastern people, it comes like a revelation when they first see it here in such profusion.

In Europe, its cultivation is chiefly confined to a small strip of land along the northern coast of the Mediterranean. California apricots thus have the world for a market. Carefully selected, and prepared either by canning or drying, there is room for an immense product as soon as their excellence shall have been properly made known and the producer and consumer brought nearer together. As it is, the grower gets eight cents a pound or less for dried apricots that the New York housekeeper pays thirty cents for. This big margin must be reduced.

GIVE US A NEAR-IN POSTOFFICE.

Our business men ought, once for all, to make a supreme effort to have a branch postoffice established somewhere within the business limits. It will be quite a time before the new Government building is ready for occupancy, and it may happen that even when this occurs the postoffice will have to remain for a time where it is, over half a mile from the residence center of town which had to be consulted, the present location would be very suitable, as it is convenient to the most populous residence quarter, but as the merchants and professional men do probably nine-tenths of the postoffice business, their interests certainly ought to have been considered when the real-estate job which located the postoffice on its present site was engineered.

The fact that a "branch" postoffice, located anywhere near the business center of the city, would probably do ten times as much business as the main office, ought not to be considered as a reason for not establishing such branch, but rather as a proof of its urgent necessity.

OHIO.

The Ohio Republican State Convention will meet tomorrow. The situation is complicated and interesting. The leading candidates for Governor—there are a dozen in all—are Foraker, Kennedy, Bushnell and Dawes, with Foraker in the lead. Congressman Williams of the Third District, now in Washington, expresses the confident opinion that Foraker will win the nomination easily. The Cincinnati Times-Star is of the same opinion. Kennedy is in the field to stay, and says he could not retire now, as he consented to become a candidate only after having assurances that neither Foraker nor Bushnell desired the nomination. While the chances favor Foraker if he goes into the convention, there is no absolute certainty that he can be nominated. In that event, Gen. Kennedy is the likely winner. His standing is high, his ability unquestioned, and his popularity has been tested.

DANGEROUS SUBSTITUTES FOR WHISKY.

Massachusetts is complaining of the increased consumption of so-called "temperance beverages" in that State. People who consider it improper to imbibe alcohol in the usual forms consume large quantities of it in the shape of what are known as "bitters," of which millions of bottles are sold yearly in Massachusetts. Though nominally medicines, these bitters are in reality alcoholic, many of them containing nearly as large a percentage of proof spirits as pure whisky.

Delirium tremens, induced by their consumption, is quite common. The prejudice against liquor has also led to the establishment of "temperance bars," of which there are quite a number in Boston, which do an enormous business in the sale of root beer, "tonics," and particularly "nervine foods," such as bromide of chloral, strychnine in solution, bromo-calcium and other powerful drugs. The habit of taking these is easily acquired, and if pursued, is pretty sure to lead to insanity, sooner or later. Such bars are highly respectable, but there are many who believe that they do more to undermine the health of their frequenters than do the saloons.

THE SKYLARKS.

It will be remembered that our enterprising fellow-citizen, L. J. Rose, Esq., imported from Europe some months ago a dozen or more skylarks, which were afterward turned loose in or near Los Angeles, and it is gratifying to know that, after the lapse of months, two, at least, of the birds, have been heard from, one in Vernon, just south of the city, and the other in the San Gabriel Valley. The one in Vernon was observed to be a male, and it is surmised that his mate may have been nesting not far away. There was doubt, about their keeping their habits of propagation after a journey, as prisoners, of seven thousand miles by sea and land. It was noticed that the ostriches, when first brought here, did not multiply as regularly as when in their native haunts, but their shyness in that regard has been overcome by time, and they are now laying their eggs with satisfactory results. If the skylarks were similarly affected by the journey, they, too, may get over it after a little, and cheer us with their sweet music as loudly as any other lark, or the mocking-bird. Mr. Rose, as well as the public at large, is to be congratulated that at least some of his birds have been heard from.

SOME DOMESTIC PETS.

Chickens and dogs are general pets. The boys and girls have them, and their elders are fond of breeding, growing and caring for them. The culture of them is an interesting study and a pleasurable pursuit, frequently engaging the attention of men and women of education, taste and wealth, as well as that of larger class designated as "average citizens." Observation, study, correct methods in breeding, patience, persistence and care with domestic animals and birds produce marvelous and gratifying results, which amply repay him who practices them. There are many fine fowls and noble dogs in Los Angeles, as the bench show and chicken exhibition now in progress at Hazard's Pavilion will demonstrate. The exhibition only opened yesterday, and is not yet in full blast (though somewhat vocal as far as it has gone). The Times today prints some points on the show, and advises the reader of this paragraph to go and see the pets for himself. They make an attractive collection.

DR. JACKSON of New York is about to try an interesting experiment in marine propulsion. He has constructed a boat 100 feet long, of 100 tons burden, with a boiler of 1500 horse power applied to a Worthington pump, used to eject a three-quarter inch jet of water from the stern post at the keel line. This stream is to issue under a pressure of 2500 pounds to the square inch, which is expected to give the vessel a speed of from thirty to forty miles an hour. If successful, this simple water-jet invention will effect a revolution in the art of steam navigation. Dr. Jackson is a man of varied scientific attainments, and a successful inventor.

THE Citizens' Committee on "High License" in New York has entered on a new and active campaign, doubtless encouraged by the reports of the excellent workings of the system in other States. A Joint Executive Committee, representing the "Citizens," the Church Temperance Society and the Society for the Prevention of Crime, is to prepare a report, to be submitted to the people in advance of the political conventions to be held in the State this summer. This report will urge the necessity of the enactment of a high-license bill. The State is also to be extensively canvassed by the committee, which has plenty of money for the work.

THE comet sharp at the Lick Observatory has discovered another of those mysterious heavenly wanderers. These erratic bodies would be more appreciated in this utilitarian age if they could be harnessed and made to work. Probably some future Edison will manage to utilize comet power for some terrestrial purpose, if it is only to draw an audience of the curious.

AMUSEMENTS.

MARTIANA AT THE LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—The opening of H. C. Wyatt's English Opera Company last night is a somewhat significant event in the history of Los Angeles. The fact that a local manager of experience has had the courage to get together a stock company and produce English opera on a liberal scale of expenditure both for talent and for costuming, and that his attempt, so far as present indications go, is likely to prove a financial success, is a tribute to the growing importance of Los Angeles as an embryo metropolis. It is not too needless to say that the house was crowded when the curtain went up, and there was a salvo of applause when the pretty Gittana bounded on the stage in a charming costume of black satin and yellow ribbons and began her opening song. Mrs. Padelford was a little nervous at first, as might have been expected, but the warmth of her reception by the house soon removed that feeling, and she seemed perfectly at home on the boards. Her voice is remarkably sweet, clear and penetrating, sympathetic in tone and quite well cultivated. She sings with taste and expression, and enters into the rendition of her character with an abundance of feeling and self-possession which are all her own; captivates, in spite of some few minor shortcomings which will probably wear off later on. Her success was immediate, and at the close of the first act the stage was covered with bouquets from admiring friends. Another decided success was made by Miss Emma Berg, who took the part of "Lorilero." She has a petite figure, a pretty and intelligent face and a rich, pleasing voice, which is certainly a great asset. Her singing of the solo in the prison scene "Alas, those chimneys" was twice encored.

ROUGH-AND-TUMBLE Fight by a Couple of Butchers.—John Fitzpatrick and Charles Deirich, a couple of young butchers, got into a fight near the corner of Main and Third streets, and were rolling about in the gutter when Officer Fowler happened along and took them in. Fitzpatrick is in the employ of the elder Dietrich, the father of the fighter, and yesterday got drunk while out delivering meat. Dietrich sent his son after Fitzpatrick, with instructions to take charge of the wagon, and discharge the hired man. Fitzpatrick refused to give up the wagon, and when he returned to the shop, got into an altercation with the elder Dietrich, and struck at him. The young man took up his father's fight, and, although he was not much more than half as big as the other man, was getting away with him, when the officer arrived. Judge Stanton heard the case yesterday afternoon, and fined Dietrich $5 and Fitzpatrick $15, in default of which the latter was committed to jail.

OLD man Dietrich was in court, and appeared to be very proud of his son's performance.

 WASHINGTON, June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] Solicitor Hepburn has given an opinion to the Secretary of the Treasury that there is nothing in law to prohibit the landing of Chinese laborers who desire merely to pass through the territory of the United States in transit. The question arose on an application for the landing at San Francisco of a number of Chinese destined to Cuba, a bond being offered for their departure from United States territory. The application was granted.

A Water War Raging in San Bernardino County.

A Vallejo Man Recovers Damages Against Contractors at Mare Island—Other Coast Happenings.

By telegraph to The Times.

HELENA (Mont.), June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] News has just been received from Arlee, the principal town in the Flathead reserve that Sheriff Heyforn and a posse of Missoula county, who went out to the reserve to arrest three Indian murderers were having a battle with the Indians, who refuse to surrender the murderers. Two Indians are reported to have been killed.

Agent Roman has called on the officer at Fort Missoula for troops. A posse of citizens from Missoula, headed by Mayor Sloan, is on the way to aid the Sheriff.

THE PHARMACEUTICALS.

Opening of the Convention at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] The American Pharmaceutical Association convened in Odd Fellows' Hall this morning. The Executive Council held a preliminary session, President M. W. Alexander presiding.

The number of delegates in attendance is about 375, and elaborate preparations have been made to entertain them during their stay here.

This afternoon the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the association was called to order by President Alexander.

Mayor Pond welcomed the visitors to San Francisco.

Dr. E. A. Babert of Ohio in response thanked the citizens of San Francisco for the welcome accorded them.

President Alexander then delivered his opening address.

The Membership Committee reported that during the year 1888 applications for membership had been received and the total membership is now 1264.

Among the prominent pharmacists present at the convention are Dr. Frank L. James of St. Louis, editor of the National Druggist and St. Louis Medical and Surgical Journal; F. W. Bedford of New York, editor of the Pharmaceutical Record, and Professor of Pharmacy in the New York College; Prof. Elmer Painter, chairman of the Section of Scientific Papers, and an ex-San Franciscan; H. M. Wheeler, Professor of Microscopy in the St. Louis College of Pharmacy, and editor of The Druggist; Prof. J. M. Malich of Philadelphia, permanent secretary and one of the most devoted and oldest members of the association, author of The National Dispensary and professor of Materia Medica in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy; C. S. Hellerberger of Chicago, editor of The Western Druggist, and director of the National Institute of Pharmacy; A. E. Boett of Chicago, ex-president, who has been present at many of the sessions.

A WATER WAR.

Trouble on Lytle Creek—The Sheriff Asked to Intervene.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] Trouble has broken out on Lytle creek, between ranchers and the Mt. Vernon and Semi-Tropic Land and Water Company, owners of Rialto. Yesterday an armed force went up from Rialto to turn the water down to that place, and an armed force went up from Mt. Vernon. The latter were, of course, powerless to do anything.

This morning a large force went up from Mt. Vernon, taking teams, scrapers, shovels and shotguns. They expected to repair the ditch destroyed by the Rialto people, and then turn down the water. This evening one of the Mt. Vernon men came to town in haste, calling for Sheriff Seymour and a posse of men to go to the scene of hostilities, which is 10 miles distant from the city. The Sheriff with an armed force at once proceeded to the scene.

HIS PATENT INFRINGED.

A Vallejo Man Awarded Damages by Judge Sawyer.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—[By the Associated Press.] When the Government was completing the granite drydock at Mare Island, a few years ago, it contracted with the Union Iron Works for the erection of the floating caisson gate, with which to close the mouth of the dock. During the course of its construction Admiral Belknap and other Government officials were warned by George F. Schild, a resident of Vallejo, that he possessed patents on the gate which they were erecting. No attention was paid to his claims, and he was brought in the Circuit Court for an injunction and accounting. Judge Sawyer today sustains Schild's claim, and referred the matter to a master in chancery for an assessment of damages.

Destructive Grain Fires.

STOCKTON, June 24.—Saturday's fire on Roberts' Island swept 100 acres of stubble and consumed 12 stacks of grain aggregating 8000 sacks. It belonged to Martin J. Lund. Loss, $6000.

At 10 o'clock this morning another fire started near by, and at noon had swept between 300 and 400 acres of grain and was threatening several stacks and houses and barns. It will burn before more men meet a road. A series of fires for two weeks have destroyed grain of more than $8000 acres all told.

STOCKTON, June 24.—A report from Roberts' Island tonight says the fire in the grain fields is under control. Fire yesterday and today destroyed 320 acres of grain.

The Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday in regular session.

The matter of the forfeiture of the Electric Railway Company's franchise was postponed on account of the sickness of Mr. Howland.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the county printing, binding and stationery, the bids to be acted upon July 6th.

All streets now of record in the Bellevue addition to Modesto have been ordered abandoned, with the exception of Chapman street.

Action in the matter of the Garvanza toll-bridge was postponed until August 7th.

The bid of Neustadt & Pirtle for $8000 North Yorba school district bonds at par was accepted.

The Duvals.

Lawyer Duval, who smashed a man named Wilson in the head with a rock, Saturday night, was yesterday brought before Judge Owens, when his cases were continued to Thursday next at 2 o'clock p.m. There are three charges against him—one for battery, and two for disturbing the peace. As Duval has been unable to give bail, having been compelled to remain in jail since Saturday night, he was released on his own recognizance. The trial will probably be a rich one, as Duval is represented by Messrs. Mason, Benjamin and Stewart. Wilson has engaged Lawyer O. O. Trantum to assist the District Attorney. Duval's wife has also had a charge of disturbing the peace entered against her.

THE BANTA CASE.

They Gave the Old Man a Little Cuddly-Old.

The Banta will case was not very productive of eventful testimony yesterday. Only four or five witnesses were examined during the day, the cross-examinations being prolonged away beyond the verge of tediousness. The witnesses examined were in the same line as heretofore, expressing their opinions from more or less of acquaintance with the late Isaac Banta, as to his mental and physical condition before and at the time of making his will.

C. H. Kilgore was on the stand during the morning session. He had been intimate with Mr. Banta, and expressed himself very decidedly about his condition. He thought very few men as sane as old man Banta.

Mr. Marshall, the keeper of the Crown Villa after Mr. Pierce gave it up, and with whom Mr. Banta resided for a month before he went east on the last journey of his life, was examined at great length. He was a fly witness and raised a good many laughs by his answers. He never saw anything that raised a suspicion in his mind that the old man was not perfectly rational. He had a porter remain with Mr. Banta's room all night once to keep up a fire for him.

Mrs. Kilgore had quite a number of talks with Mr. and Mrs. Banta. On one occasion Mrs. Banta told her that she could not live any longer with Mr. Banta, and wanted the witness' husband to help her procure a divorce. On another occasion Mr. Banta told the witness that he had made his will and the trust deed, making Mr. Pierce the trustee. He told her that he had left Mrs. Pierce $40,000 and $15,000 to each of the children. Upon her expressing surprise at the large amount he left Mrs. Pierce and the small amount to his daughter, Mattie, Mr. Banta said that Mrs. Banta had left her property to Mattie, and that Lou (Mrs. Pierce), was a sickly woman, and that was the reason he left her more.

On another occasion Mrs. Pierce was dangerously sick. The witness told Mrs. Banta about it, and she went to her. Mr. Banta said that he would not go, because, if he did, it would make trouble in the family. Mr. Banta would not go to the new house, because they had set apart a little closet for his room. Mr. Banta said that when his wife built the new house it was for Mattie, and the old man was chucked into a little room. The reason they gave for giving him the room was that he was so much and made so much dirt that they did not want him in the other rooms.

The case will be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock.

A STRANGE DEATH.

And a Stranger Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

Coroner Meredith yesterday morning received a telegram from J. H. Northcott at Workman's ranch, 10 miles from San Fernando, asking him to come up and hold an inquest. No particulars were sent, and as the Coroner could not go he telephoned to Justice Reed. It was learned by telephone later in the afternoon that the dead man's name was John Ayers, a laborer on the ranch, who was killed by a fellow-workman named Gwynn. Ayers, who was a large, powerful man, had been on a protracted spree, and returned to the ranch Sunday afternoon, when he began to try to get a fight with some of the men. He finally picked out Gwynn, who is a small man, and knocked him down. Gwynn got up and struck Ayers a heavy blow between the eyes, and shot him in the falling. Ayers struck his head on a piece of wood, which almost knocked him senseless. He tried to get up, but was unable to do so, and, after groaning two or three times, fell back dead.

The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes, and Gwynn was released—a remarkable verdict, to say the least, in view of the circumstances. The Grand Jury will probably look further into the matter.

The Orange County Case.

The judges of the Superior Court will meet today to consider the Orange county case. There is no indication what the decision will be. It is not likely that a decision will be reached today, and it will not be announced until the opinion is prepared. The judges have not had a consultation yet over the case since the hearing of several days ago. It is said by those who think they know, although no intimations have been let out by the judges, that the decision will be in favor of Orange county.

The Social Evil.

Among the petitions presented to the Council yesterday was one from property-owners asking that all houses of ill-fame be removed from New High and Buena Vista streets. The petitions were referred to the Board of Police Commissioners, and will probably come up at the meeting tomorrow afternoon, when the social evil problem will receive due consideration at their hands, and some action will be taken for its better regulation.

The National Game.

De Smith: The ball, of course.

Miss Travis: And don't they ever go out on a bat?

De Smith: No never.

Miss Travis: Well pa does, anyway. I've heard Fred say so.

A Grave Error.

[Omaha World.] He: My dear Miss Angel, will you not partake of just a little pale, pink cream and one bon-bon, which I fear will not be so exquisite as you are accustomed to in Boston? She: What a break! I'm not from Boston. I live in Kansas City. He: Well, I am a fish! Here, waiter, bring us a double order of pork chops and some turnips with the peeling on.

Eastern Culture and Western Courtesy.

[Washington Post.] When the women of Guthrie concluded they wanted to vote for Mayor, the men got wagons and sent them to the polls. In Boston when the women voted they had to take their places in line and stand in a cold, drizzling rain until their turn came. Such is the difference between cultured and border life.

German (indignantly): No; und you don't got noddings so stout like Limburger cheese!

A VILE WRETCH.

HE MAKES ONE ASSIGNATION TOO MANY.

And Is Neatly Landed Behind the Bars—The Writer of Lewd Epistles in Verse—A Typical "Masher" Who Will Probably Get His Deserts.

The police authorities last night made an arrest which landed one of the most cold-blooded scoundrels that ever disgraced the city behind the bars, where he will probably remain until he is sent to the penitentiary at Detroit to serve a term for sending obscene literature through the mails.

Yesterday about noon a leading business man of the city called to see Chief Burns, and laid before him a letter which had been received by his daughter through the mails.

The letter is in verse, very neatly written, and covers six large pages, and is without doubt one of the vilest compositions that ever emanated from a depraved mind. After indulging in language that will not bear quoting, it winds up by inviting the young lady to make an assignation with the writer, who signs himself "Clyde."

The writer stated that he was a stranger in the city, had only been here a week, in fact, and there was absolutely nothing about the paper by which the writer could be identified.

As soon as Chief Burns saw this he told the gentleman that there was but one way in which the scoundrel could be caught, and that was for the young lady to go to the place designated, meet the man and go with him to the theater, where he would have a couple of trusty officers to look out for him.

The gentleman at first demurred to this plan, saying his daughter was completely prostrated over the affair, and that he would have to have time to consult with his wife. About 4 o'clock he returned, when he said that, in the interest of society, and in order that the wretch might be punished as he deserved, they had concluded to do as the Chief suggested.

Accordingly Deputy Chief Bile and Detective Charley Jennings were detailed for the work, and at the proper time met the young lady and her father, when she was told what to do. Promptly at 8 o'clock the young lady went to the appointed place, and in a few seconds the writer of the letter, a neatly-dressed man, apparently about 32 or 33 years of age, came up and joined her.

The young lady said that she would go with him, and he had suggested, and they started down the street, with Deputy Bile following on one side and Detective Jennings and the young lady's father on the other. Arriving at the theater, the man went up to the box office and purchased two seats, and just as he paid for them and put them in his pocket the officers stepped up and placed him under arrest; the young lady joined her father and went home.

The man did not manifest any surprise when he was taken in charge, merely remarking that he supposed that "it was in connection with that letter," and was brought to the police station.

W. W. Wyman, and, on being searched, $13.85 in currency, a new red morocco diary and notebook, apparently just purchased, as there was not a line written in them, some playing cards with the name of W. W. Wyman, a fine gold watch and chain, and some little trinkets were found in his pockets. Besides these, a certificate of deposit on the Bank of Napa for $478, dated June 15, and signed by J. I. Edwards, and signed by C. R. Quintman, cashier, was also found.

The certificate had several endorsements on the back, having been assigned by Edwards to Mrs. Mary Guentler, who in turn had assigned it to Messrs. Greenbaum & Co., they in turn assigning it to C. H. Hirsch, who had indorsed it to W. W. Wyman. A newspaper clipping referring to the mysterious disappearance of Alfred S. Burroughs, the Oakland author, which created such a sensation some months ago, was also found in the notebook, but nothing else except three two-cent postage stamps and a sealed envelope, not directed, which the officer opened, and found to contain a "poem," inviting a girl to meet him at the postoffice Wednesday evening, and to wear a rose as a distinguishing mark. Wyman took his arrest very coolly, and, after being questioned, he was taken to the police station for sending obscene literature through the mails and looked up.

An hour or two after his arrest, through the courtesy of Chief Burns, a Times reporter was permitted to interview Wyman in the Chief's office. The prisoner is a good-looking man, about 5 feet 10 inches in height, with dark hair and mustache, hair rather thin over the temples. He was dressed in a dark suit, with a white shirt and bow tie, with brown-check cassimere trousers, and straw hat, with dark band. His shoes were neatly polished and almost new, and he looked altogether like a well-to-do young business man, there being nothing in his appearance about him. He has, however, one peculiarity, and that is a very blank countenance, which gives him a rather peculiar expression.

The fellow did not seem at all abashed at his disgraceful position, but answered freely all the questions put to him. He said that his name is W. W. Wyman, and that he came to San Francisco about a week ago from St. Louis. His real name, he said, is in Ulster county, N. Y. Wyman denied that he had written or posted the letter, saying that he only addressed it at the solicitation of a friend he had met here named Alfred. He claimed that he did not know this friend's name, but that he supposed from what he had said that it was Alfred S. Burroughs. In regard to the other letter which he had in his possession, he said that he had written it, and he said that Alfred had left that in his room. The fellow denied that he knew the contents of the filthy composition sent to the young lady, saying that Alfred had copied it partly from a circular he had received from the Police Gazette. Wyman at first declined to say where he had been rooming, but finally said that it was at No. 10 Commercial street, near Los Angeles. Alfred, he said, was at some second-class hotel, but he did not know the name of it. He said that he never saw the young lady to whom the letter was sent, but that when he addressed the letter for Alfred that individual told him about the engagement and suggested that he should keep it.

The fellow's whole story was very fishy, and after waiting for him to get through he was again looked up. The police will, however, make thorough search, and will get his baggage, and see what his trunk contains.

Chief Burns deserves credit for the manner in which he worked the case, and finally getting the evidence in such shape that there is no escape for the fellow. His offense is a very grave one, and he is almost sure to get a long term of imprisonment. He will probably have a preliminary examination today or tomorrow, after which he will be turned over to the United States authorities.

Deputy Chief Bile, Capt. Harris and Detective Jennings afterward went to Wyman's room, where they found his valise, in which some writing-paper, pens, etc., together with several letters of the same nature as the one sent to the young lady, were found, thus clearly establishing the fact that he is the guilty man. There is an opinion among some of the officers that he is the missing Alfred S. Burroughs, but this is hardly possible. His case will be further investigated today.

JOHNSTOWN AS IT IS.

A Cross Between a Military Camp and a Mining Town.

Johnstown Cor. New York Sun, June 24th. Johnstown is a cross between a military camp and a new mining town, and is getting more so every day. It has all the unpleasant and disagreeable features of both, relieved by the pleasures of neither. Every where one goes soldiers are lounging about or standing guard on all roads leading into the city, and stop every one who cannot show a license, except a license of some kind down in the center of the runs and others are scattered everywhere on every cleared space beside the railroad tracks and on the hills about. A corps of engineers is planning poor bridges over the streams, piers are everywhere laying out new camps, erecting mess sheds and other rude buildings and clearing away obstructions to the ready passage of supply wagons.

Mounted men are constantly galloping about from place to place, carrying orders. At headquarters about the Pennsylvania Railroad depot there are dozens of petty officers in giddy gold lace, and Gen. Hastings, Gen. Wiley and a few others in dingy clothes, sitting about the shady part of the platform, giving and receiving orders. The occasional thunder of dynamite sounds like the boom of distant cannon defending some outpost. Supplies are heaped up about headquarters, and are being unloaded from cars as rapidly as locomotives can push them up and get the empty cars out of the way again. From cooking tents smoke and savory odors come out, mingled with the odor of carbolic from hospital tents scattered about. It is very likely that within a short time this military appearance will be greatly increased by the arrival of another regiment and the formal declaration of martial law.

On the other hand the town's resemblance to a mining camp is just as striking. Everything is muddy and desolate. There are no streets nor any roads, except the tracks of the cars, which wove out for themselves across the sandy plain. Rough sheds and shanties are going up on every hand. There are no regular stores, but cigars and drink—none intoxicating, however,—are peddled from rough boxes and cans. Railroads run into the camp over uneven, crooked tracks. Trains of freight cars are constantly arriving and being shovelled off on to all sorts of sidings, or into the mud, to get them out of the way. Everybody wears his trousers in his boots, and is muddy, ragged and unshaven. Men with picks and shovels are everywhere delving or mining for another wide glimpse of the coal seam. A few days ago a row of gambling hells in full blast under the temporary electric lights that gaudily illuminate the center of the town.

[And now here has swept over the ill-fated town, visiting a fresh calamity upon the stricken populace. It is terrible!]

The Educational Busto. [Drake's Magazine.] Neighbor's boy: "Mrs. Moxie, mother'd like to borrow this week's 'Wiz'."

Mrs. Moxie: "You are just five minutes too late, Jimmie. Tell your mother that Manda has taken it to church in her bustle; but she can have last week's bustle to read if she'll iron it out. There's an admirable article in it on makeshifts."

The Utopians. [Pseud-na Union.] Los Angeles has formed a "Utopian Club," having the excuse of its being upon the theories of Bellamy's book "Looking Backward." We are afraid this age is too practical and money-getting to permit itself to be much governed by schemes necessarily so theoretical as these. They have been tried before, but always with disastrous results.

They Would Come a-Running. [St. Louis Globe-Democrat.] "Get together" is the present rallying-cry of the Democrats. Let somebody call out, "What'll you take?" and see how rapidly they will concentrate.

BUSINESS.

Money, Stocks and Bonds.

New York, June 24.—Money on call easy at 15¢ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3% to 3 1/2%. Sterling exchange, dull but steady at 4.87 for 60-day bills, 4.88 for demand. American cotton oil, 55¢. Government bonds, firm.

New York, June 24.—The stock market today was all one-sided, and the preponderance of speculation was done more in trusts, while railroad shares were comparatively neglected, there being only five that showed any animation whatever. Among the trusts the dealings were enormous, and the excitement at times intense. Sugar took the lead in the upward movement, but National Lead led in the amount of transactions. The former was buoyed up by the steady rise in the value of sugar abroad and a reduction in the estimates of the beet-root crop in Europe, and buying was largely by insiders, and in the first 15 minutes the stock rose to 130, against 118 1/2 on Saturday evening; heavy realizing sales followed, and it moved back to 124 1/2, but closed at 123, a net gain of 4 1/2 per cent. The market closed quiet but firm at irregular changes for the day. The sales of unlisted stocks, however, reached a total of 174,786 shares, to which National Lead contributed 141,565, and sugar trusts 20,160.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

Frank Bartlett Post and Relief Corps will give a doughnut social this evening.

The Los Angeles Lumber Company filed a petition in the Superior Court for a dissolution of the company.

The commencement exercises of the Boys' High School will be held at the Los Angeles Theater this afternoon.

Rev. Dr. Blake, the eminent Scotch divine, will be the principal speaker tonight at the meeting of Presbyterians.

F. W. Ackerblum, a well-known druggist of this city, died at his home on Olive street yesterday afternoon of consumption.

Gus Yager, the young boy arrested a day or two ago on a charge of robbing Butcher Isaac's till, was yesterday discharged by Judge Owens.

The Presbyterians had a popular social gathering tonight at the First Church, under the auspices of the local Presbyterian Alliance.

Thomas Phillips was yesterday fined $20 for carrying concealed weapons, and William Shaw and L. D. Young $10 and $15 respectively, for fighting.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph office for A. W. Murray, Grace Gibson, H. L. Werners, Leonard Werners, Francis Baker and V. Vezette.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Milton O. Ellmore, aged 22, and Frances B. Henderson, aged 24; city; W. L. Rhoads, aged 37, and Kate F. Burns, aged 29, city.

The friends of "Bob" Dominguez, who was reported to be in Mexico, say that this is a mistake, but that he is in San Francisco, where he is in his uncle's employ, and will return to Los Angeles in a short time.

Carter and McCallan went to San Quentin yesterday in charge of Deputy Peter Reel. The first goes for one year and the latter for two years. Phillips, the lunatic, was committed to Stockton, and will go north today.

Warren Brush, the boy arrested some days ago for breaking into a shed in East Los Angeles, yesterday came before Judge Stanton on a charge of burglary. His case was continued to July 15th, and he was placed under $1000 bail.

The following passengers left for the north by the Southern Pacific yesterday: Mrs. E. B. Stanwood, Annie Ellis, C. Kohler, New Wolfkill, Mr. Langley, Mr. Porter, S. G. Long, J. A. Thompson, David Perry, Mr. Goldwater, J. D. Fage.

Yesterday morning Alvin McCallan was brought before Judge McKinley for sentence. He was convicted of burglary last week. Motions in arrest of judgment and for a new trial were denied, and the young man was sentenced to two years at San Quentin.

The item published yesterday relative to Dr. Senger, who is to be in Los Angeles today and remain the rest of the week making entrance examinations, should have connected him with the University of California at Berkeley, and not the University of Southern California, as stated.

W. M. Rains was yesterday brought in from near Fresno by Deputy United States Marshal Tom Hays, charged with disposing of 110 cords of wood, which had been seized by the government. Commissioner Van Dyke held him in $500 bail. Rains claims that he does not know anything about the matter, and that the wood was cut by his nephew.

C. F. Smurr, on behalf of the Southern Pacific Company, paid to Manager Schreiner of the Los Angeles Times $580, being its proportion of the tickets of the Frederick Warde combination, stolen from the safe of the Nadeau by Kirk. The total value of the tickets was about $200, and the balance is to come from the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific lines. The tickets were, of course, canceled.

W. Phillips, a crazy man, was examined before Judge McKinley yesterday and committed to the insane asylum at Stockton. One peculiarity of the patient was the singular manner in which he mixed up prayerfulness and profanity. He would begin a sentence in the most religious manner, and wind it up with an oath. He was very wild after the examination, and went shouting out of the courtroom to jail.

The trial of Manuel Dominguez, charged with an assault with intent to murder, occupied a portion of yesterday afternoon in Judge McKinley's court. Dominguez had a difficulty with a man named Tarpia in February last, and shot him in the leg. The row was about some cattle which Tarpia was driving away. The case went to the jury during the afternoon and late last evening they had not agreed.

Street Superintendent Morford seems determined to have all the gutters placed under the sidewalks, and says that unless the ordinance is carried out, the violators will be arrested. Yesterday warrants were issued for the arrest of J. C. O. Harris, L. Mesmer and Lee Kwai Sing, and they were brought into court, when their cases were continued until today. Other warrants will probably be issued today or tomorrow.

The following were the arrivals at the County Jail yesterday: William Rice, murder, on route to Illinois; Tulare county; B. Moreno, drunk and disorderly; and Jose Martinez, disturbing the peace, San Gabriel; John Martin, vagrant, and Sam Jackson, common drunk, Santa Monica; David Ahern, defrauding hotel-keeper, Anaheim. Rice was wanted in Illinois for the brutal murder of his illegitimate child. His parol was also being captured.

Joe Wilson, a tough-looking citizen, was brought to the police station yesterday about 10 o'clock, and was locked up, charged with disturbing the peace. Wilson went into some Chinese houses, for which John C. Bell, the auctioneer, is agent, and proceeded to raise a disturbance, flourishing a revolver, and threatening to do up various people. The police office was telephoned, and the bad man was locked up. He was brought up before Judge Stanton yesterday afternoon, and, as the prosecution was not ready to proceed, he was committed to jail in default of $30 cash bail until today.

Last night about 9 o'clock as Jaller Hare, at the City Prison, opened the door to allow a man to pass out with some dishes, a petty larcenist named Charley Williams made a dash for liberty, running the whole length of the station and getting out of the front door before he could be stopped. Capt. Harris, who was behind the railing, gave the alarm, when Detective Glass and ex-Officer Miller started in pursuit. Miller catching the fugitive on Second street, just east of Spring. He was brought back to the station, and an additional charge of jail-breaking put against him.

What Yesterday's Experience Proves—Striking Results of Our Banner Sale—Our Acknowledgments—Ready for Another Rush.

PEOPLE'S STORE, LOS ANGELES, June 25.

THE REWARD OF A BRIGHT.

Yesterday was a great day with us. It proved conclusively that the public has confidence in our sales, and lends us its willing aid to prove to jealous and imitating storekeepers that the People's Store is the store for the people in the interest of the people and for the benefit of the people. The vast output of goods, the quantities distributed in 10,000 homes, the good values sent broadcast in every nook and corner of our prosperous city, yields us praise for our pains and energy. When we have an object lesson to teach we never blunder; we instruct, we benefit and we contribute, be the loss ever so great.

If our stores had been twice as large we could not have found room for all the willing patrons. We would, with all our heart, like to have each and every one of you attended to in the best possible manner. We want to look out for your comfort, for we feel we owe you gratitude for the overwhelming ovation tendered us yesterday. In fact, our hearts were full, and in our unbounded gratitude we had the desire to grasp each patron by the hand as a hearty welcome.

RETIRING FROM BUSINESS.

I would respectfully announce to the citizens of Los Angeles that, owing to a large increase in the rent of my store premises, it will not justify me to remain longer in the cigar and tobacco business at my old stand. Therefore, please observe and take advantage of the fact that Imported and Key West Cigars, 10c each; former price, 15c.

Imported Cigars, heretofore sold three for 50c, can now be had two for 25c; and those sold for 25c can now be had for 20c.

My best brands of nickel cigars, six for 25c, can now be had two for 10c.

Star Cigars, two 10c packages for 15c, and 50c packages for 10c. Still greater reductions made when sold by the box or quantity.

At 1 I will surrender possession of my store on the 30th day of June, you will please call early and secure a bargain.

ATTENTION!

Cheap Land - Good Land.

Dr. E. T. Barber of Lancaster, Antelope Valley, Los Angeles county, Cal., offers 30,000 acres of land for sale, in tracts of 20 acres and upward, at $5 to $8 per acre, with liberal terms and title guaranteed.

This valley has raised the premium wheat of the world, sugar beets at the rate of 215 tons to the acre; barley hay, three tons; eight crops of alfalfa in one year; perennials seven inches in diameter, and is competent to compete with Spain for raisins, and France for champagne.

All this land offered can be covered with mountain water, and has good surface and arroyo water, and much of it has a subsoil irrigation.

The railroad facilities are good; the Southern Pacific Railroad now crosses it, and three other great railroads are expected to do so in the near future.

Climate good—no cyclones, blizzards, fog, malaria, or any other pest.

Antelope Valley is the hope of the poor, a boon to men of moderate means, and a banana to wealthy business men.
